

EBA Global Seminar 2019

London, 19 and 20 September 2019

Real-Time Payments and Open Banking: New Realities, New Challenges

The EBA Global Seminar “Real-Time Payments and Open Banking: New Realities, New Challenges” will assess the current status of real-time payment and open banking initiatives in and outside of Europe. What are the strategic imperatives and what can we learn from the developments in these markets?

In the seminar, speakers from large and mid-size banks, technology and infrastructure providers as well as delegates from Asia, the US and Europe will be discussing questions on current real-time payment schemes, the expectations of different types of customers and stakeholders, as well as the critical challenges and the emerging practical and commercial opportunities and benefits of open banking.

Program EBA Global Seminar 2019

“Real-Time Payments and Open Banking: New Realities, New Challenges”

Thursday, 19 September 2019

1:00 pm	Arrival and Registration
2:00	Welcome and Introduction A brief welcome to the delegates to outline the key activities and highlights for the seminar Wolfgang Ehrmann, Chairman of the Board, Euro Banking Association
2:15	A Match Made in Heaven? Real-time Payments and Open Banking Innovation in the UK The United Kingdom has been among the leaders in real-time payment adoption and is now embracing Open Banking as quickly as any country in the world. This panel will explore the innovative services being developed and the impact they are having on the market. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Teresa Connors, Head of Market Management, Payments, Natwest • Vijay Jain, Vice President, Strategy, Barclaycard Payment Solutions • Daniel Jenkinson, Senior Manager, Consumer and SME Representative, Open Banking Ltd. Moderator: Leo Lipis, EBA Global Seminar Chair
3:00	Engineering a Global Payments Revolution Powered by skyrocketing customer demands, mounting competition and emergent technologies, the global payments system is fundamentally transforming its systems. This session describes how SWIFT, banks, market infrastructures and technology partners are collaborating to deliver a future of instant, accessible and ubiquitous payments. Vikesh Patel, Head of Nordics, Deputy Head, UK & Ireland, SWIFT
3:45	Coffee break
4:15	Setting Sail Toward New Horizons of Payments This presentation will explore the types of services, methods of connecting, and experimental business practices in new models of embedded payments and platform banking. Trevor LaFleche, Senior Director, Product Management, Fiserv
5:00	How Soon is Now? Instant Payments Developments in Europe The launch of instant payments in Europe in late 2017 has been very promising. This presentation will give an update on the ramp-up and describe efforts to leverage instant payments through the Europe-wide implementation of Request To Pay as a ‘missing link’. Hays Littlejohn, CEO, EBA CLEARING
5:45	Panel Discussion with the Speakers from the Afternoon Review of the key issues and outcomes from the day
6:30	Drinks Reception An opportunity for delegates to meet each other and the EBA Global Seminar faculty in the relaxed informal surroundings of the hotel.
7:00	Dinner

...continued on next page

Friday, 20 September 2019

9:00 am	Agenda for the Day Setting the scene for the day and highlighting the key take-aways from the previous day Leo Lipis, EBA Global Seminar Chair
9:15	It's Really Time for Real-Time: Open Banking and Real-Time Payments in the United States Financial institutions are beginning to see Real-time payments (RTP) and its use cases, including Request For Payment (RFP), as a source of competitive advantage. This session will explore the adoption of RTP and a bold private sector effort to implement a secure open banking ecosystem. Russ Waterhouse, Executive Vice President Product & Strategy, The Clearing House
10:00	Real-time Payments in Practice This session will describe the early use cases and expected developments in real-time payments in the United States and their interaction with open banking. Michelle Ziolkowski, SVP, Head of Global Payables, Treasury Management, Wells Fargo
10:45	Q&A with Russ Waterhouse and Michelle Ziolkowski Review of the key issues and outcomes from the lecturers' sessions
11:00	Break
11:15	Real-Time Payments, Open Banking, and Cash Reduction in Japan The Japanese payments industry is in the midst of a major effort to promote electronic payments and modernise the interbank infrastructure. This session will explore how real-time payments and open banking are being used to drive down cash usage. Mayu Suzuki, Director, PaymentsJapan
12:00	A Giant Awakens: Payments Market Developments in China China is among the most important and least understood growth markets for payments. This session explores the developmental dynamics in China, how Chinese users make payments, and how the industry is supporting them. Zennon Kapron, CEO, KapronAsia
12:45	Q&A with Mayu Suzuki and Zennon Kapron Review of the key issues and outcomes from the lecturers' sessions
1:00	Lunch
2:00	Supporting Trade and Remittances: Real-time Payments in Africa African countries are in the process of leaping ahead to regional real-time payments. This session will discuss the development of cross-border real-time payments in southern Africa. Arthur Cousins, Payments Project Coordinator, Southern African Development Community Banking Association
2:45	Global Real-Time Ubiquity and Adoption is a Beautiful Aim, so how Real is It? How are global market infrastructures leveraging ISO 20022 domestic applications for cross-border real-time payments? The session will explore the advances in cross-border real-time payments, standards and market practices that surround them, and share practical experience when driving global consistency and staying locally relevant. Roy DeCicco, Managing Director, and Stew Cofer, Executive Director, J.P. Morgan
3:30	Q&A with Arthur Cousins, Roy DeCicco and Stew Cofer Review of the key issues and outcomes from the lecturers' sessions
3:45	Panel Debrief Review of the day, its lessons and its implications for the delegates' future work
4:00	End of the EBA Global Seminar

Logistical information

Venue

Royal Lancaster London
Lancaster Terrace
Bayswater
London W2 2TY
UK

Website

Booking

For bookings, please e-mail your request to education@abe-eba.eu. We strongly recommend registering promptly.

Sponsor

The EBA Global Seminar “Real-Time Payments and Open Banking: New Realities, New Challenges” is sponsored by Fiserv and SWIFT.

fiserv.

Price

- for EBA Members: EUR 1,350
- for non-EBA Members: EUR 1,750.

The price includes all seminar activities, materials, and meals. It does not include accommodation.

Full payment will need to be made in advance.